

Matthew Krueger & Joshua Kelley

Owners/Developers

Matt Krueger and Josh Kelley have each been working in the IT industry for 8 years. Both have an extensive background in large network environments, including The City of Grand Island, The Grand Island Independent, and Grand Island Public Schools. Both include duties that have span the vast area of Information Technology; such as domain environments, complex network topologies, security, content management, end-user support and much more.

K & K Innovations specializes in web development, using HTML, CSS, Javascript, and PHP. They have been creating & programming websites for many local clients around the Grand Island area as well as out-of-state clients. Both Matt and Josh are very proficient with new standards of IT techniques, including a strong IT hardware/networking background. K & K Innovations is dedicated to making your website look sleek and easy to navigate, while giving you all the features that are expected from a professional website. We closely monitor our development techniques to ensure SEO. Some features available on our websites include e-commerce, calendars, contact forms, professional graphic design, email, blogs, forums, polls, and more...
